
Can I use GoFiler on a terminal server?

Last Modified on 01/02/2019 2:57 pm EST

Yes, all of the products in the GoFiler suite can be run using Microsoft's Terminal Services or using Citrix XenApp. The cost of operating the software on a terminal server is the same as a regular non-terminal license. As with a non-terminal license, the software is purchased on a per-seat basis. Users can only operate the software concurrently up to the number of licenses that have been purchased.

For example, Company A has bought a five-user terminal license. Five users at Company A can open and run GoFiler simultaneously through Citrix. A sixth user will not be able to open the software until one of the other five users has closed it.

If you are interested in purchasing a terminal license for GoFiler or would like to transition a regular license to a terminal license, please contact your account executive or send a message to sales@novaworkssoftware.com .
